No doubt about it, the major topic of conversation is "How Dry It Is." Hope will have some rain ere you read this, but as I write on Monday morning pastures, gardens and lawns need a good drenching. Hay will be valuable this year. My heart is not in it, when venture forth with the hoe to discourage weeds. But Faith tells us that rain will come and there will be a harvest. You gotta believe. A hard fall makes for a high bounce.

We do not lack for entertainment in this era of TV, radio, school, church and communitywide programs. It is not something new, for man has been prone to show acting skills and display talent. The Indians had their dances and frolics and there is a record of the first play, Ye Bear and Ye Cub, presented at Pungoteague in Accomack in 1665. While browsing in my basement a few days ago I cam across several programs of early entertainments in Appomattox County. On Friday, October 20, 1882 there was an entertainment at Liberty Baptist Church, to raise funds for repairs at that church. Admission was twenty-five cents for adults and fifteen for children, or $1.00 for a family. R. F. Burke was manager, T. A. Smith was treasurer, E. G. Hix doorkeeper and W. H. Gills and G. T. Peers were floor managers. The cast included: R. F. Burke, Miss Mary O'Conner, Miss Lena Purdum, T. A. Walton, Jno. W. Paris, Miss Ellie Abbitt, Miss Lula Jones, etc.

A second program was for an Entertainment and Benefit at The Old Baptist Building, listed as " A Rare Programme, Humorous, Pathetic and Classical". Listed as offerings was a Charade by Eleven Ladies, Irish Comedy by James Fleshman, Julian Abbitt and others. Plus a Drama, "Lady Audlet's Secrat, with a cast including W. J. Trent, Chap Jones, Annie and Nina Jones. And a "Commedietta" starring Della Kindred, Harry Flood, and a skit with R. B. Poore, and a Tableux with Miss Sallie Bocock, Miss Alice Walker, Mrs. Thos. S. Bocock, Miss Fannie Thornhill, Mrs. Dabney Anderson, T. J. Thornhill, C. Lee Pankey, Dr. J. Randolph, J. T. Moorman and D. J. Walker. Doors opened at 6 o'clock P.M. and the performance began at seven.

• • •

The above names are all of outstanding citizens of Appomattox County and reflect the wide support of community programs.

Perhaps the first entertainments in the county were staged by the Sweeney family, Joel (Joe) Sam, Dick and Polly and although I have seen many printed programs of Sweeney performances, have seen none for Appomattox County.

Comment: save the programs of current shows. Some day they will pop up in a closet, desk or attic and will recall memories of what we will hail as "the good old days." There was no TV and very little radio when I first came to Appomattox, but very shortly thereafter I found myself in a local play. And I recall several minstrel shows here many years ago, with local talent.

• • •

Memorial Day is coming up, and that calls for a chance to do your part for a safe holiday.

• • •

Question: One of the entertainment programs mentioned above was for a performance at "Agee's Opera House, Appomattox Co." on January 26, 1883. Anyone remember where Agee Opera House was located?

Thanks for reading, and seeya next week.
